

ABSTRACT

The present invention generally includes a coil reel hold-down device having a base plate operatively arranged to be secured to a floor and a snubber arm pivotably mounted to the base plate, the snubber arm having a first section and a second section disposed at an obtuse angle with respect to one another, and a means for effecting a pivoting movement of the snubber arm relative to the base plate.

09954766